I grew up in Chicago and played for about 10 years. I played in recreation in the beginning and moved into some of the inner-city leagues as a teenager and played all through high school. After high school, I joined the Marine Corps and pretty much stopped playing soccer, but I've always loved the game. I want to try to instill the work and discipline that I learned throughout my playing and from my time in the service. I've learned never to give up no matter how hard things get.
